Moving to Huntertown: A First 90 Days Checklist (2026)

What a newcomer has to do, in order, with the deadlines and the door each task belongs to. Print it and tick it off.

SHORT ANSWER

The first ten days are federal: if you are subject to address reporting, notify USCIS within 10 days, and if you have a case in immigration court, notify the court within 5 days. And there is a trap here: Huntertown is a separate town inside the county, not a neighborhood of the larger city to the south. Your mailing address, your school district or your employer's records may make it look as though you live in the city; what triggers the obligation is the move itself, not crossing a boundary. The first week belongs to the town, and here the arrangement is simple: water, sewer and trash are on one bill and start with one phone call, 260.637.5058. In the same week learn three things: whether your address is inside the town limit, which school district it falls into, and whether there is a rental registration program. And put two dates in your calendar today: October for the heating assistance application, and January 15 for the homestead deduction.

The first 10 days

TASK	WHERE OR HOW
☐ Report your address to USCIS	As a general rule required for most non-citizens including green card holders, within 10 days ; holders of A and G visas and visitors entering under the visa waiver are excepted. uscis.gov/addresschange
☐ Update the address on every pending case separately	Filing an AR-11 does not change the address on a pending application by itself; enter each application's receipt number
☐ If you have an immigration court case	Within 5 days on Form EOIR-33/IC: respondentaccess.eoir.justice.gov . There is one court in the state and it is in the state capital, so moving within Indiana does not move your case to a different court
☐ If you have an ICE reporting obligation	Report the address through portal.ice.gov as well. Confirm reporting locations on the agency's own check-in page; if you hold an appointment notice, the address on that notice governs
☐ Do not mistake mail forwarding for a notification	The change of address you give the post office does not update an agency record, and giving your address to the town water utility, the school district or the licensing agency does not satisfy the federal obligation

A MAILING ADDRESS IS NOT A JURISDICTION, AND HERE IT PRODUCES THREE SEPARATE MISREADINGS

- A mailing address is not the name of a settlement. Many addresses in this region are written with the name of the larger city and people assume they already live there. Moving from the town to the city or the other way is a move even if your mailing address barely changes, and it starts the ten-day clock.
- Staying inside the county is not staying put. Going from one address to another inside the same county also requires notification. The boundary is invisible here; the obligation is not.
- Mailing address and jurisdiction are set separately, and it does not stop at one place: whether your address is inside the town limit determines your utility bill, the school district line is a separate line, and property tax and county income tax look at the county. Ask about all three separately.
- Renting a post box is not a solution, because the federal agency wants the address where you actually live.
- One thing changed in 2026: take account of the federal rule effective June 29, 2026 that reorganized alien registration and what counts as evidence of registration, readable in the federalregister.gov record.
- There is a particular risk in a small town: a letter that does not arrive is noticed later here. Check your mailbox regularly and tell your attorney if you have a pending application.

The first week: which task sits with the town and which does not

TASK	WHO DOES IT
Water, sewer and trash billing	The town itself. One call, one bill
Electricity and gas	A separate provider. We print no name , because we could not confirm from a second source the name listed on the town's link page
Fire service	The town itself
Household hazardous waste and recycling questions	At county level , through the county body the town links to on its own page
Library	The county system. There is no branch in town
School enrollment	A county-scale district. The town is not a party
Marriage license, birth certificate, property tax, eviction case	The county , and the counters are at the county seat
Driver license, vehicle registration, apostille, forming a company	The state
Hospital, transit, airport, passport acceptance facility	In the larger city to the south

TASK	WHERE OR HOW
☐ Start all three utilities with one phone call	Water and sewer sit with the town's own utility and trash is on the same bill; a private company does the collecting but you do not open an account with them. 260.637.5058 . Open the account in your own name : in this town your first document in your own name is likely to be that bill
☐ Ask four questions on the same call	Is a deposit required and will the reason be given in writing ; what is the billing period and the due date; does the town have a rule of its own about water shutoffs ; is there a rental registration program and when was it established
☐ Learn the three lines on the bill	Sales tax applies to water only , not to sewer or trash. Trash is a flat per-household charge , while water is metered usage plus a base tied to meter size. And the fire hydrant rental is a separate line : it is charged even without a connection of your own where the main exists. It is not an error
☐ Pick a payment route	By mail, in person at Town Hall, through the drop box outside the building, by automatic payment, by card through an online payment service, and through an automated payment line open around the clock on 877-493-5095 . Billing questions go to utility.office@huntertown.in.gov
☐ Confirm your electricity and gas provider by address	The town's own link page names a provider, but we could not confirm it from a second source . Give your address and ask before you move; the shutoff discussion below turns on this
☐ Find out whether your address is inside the town limit	That single answer determines both your utility bill and your school district , and in this region the mailing address does not show it
☐ Get the library card	The system is the county library and there is no branch in town ; the two nearest are at the county seat and in a neighboring settlement. No number is asked for, passports and birth certificates are listed among the accepted identification, and proof of address is written as preferred . County residents can register online and borrow with photo identification alone before the physical card arrives; the card comes by mail in five to seven business days
☐ If you have no permanent address yet, ask for the right clause by name	Among those entitled to a free card the list names a person residing temporarily or in transition in the county . A newcomer falls under that clause; ask for it by name
☐ Start school enrollment for the children	The district is Northwest Allen County Schools , administration center 260-637-3155 . The district asks for a driver's license with a current address and a matching second document; the state memorandum does not treat a number, proof of address, a birth certificate or not speaking English as grounds to refuse. Take the documents, do not postpone enrollment
☐ Do not delay the health application	The door is at state level: the Division of Family Resources within the Indiana Family and Social Services Administration , dfrbenefits.in.gov or 800-403-0864 . This application can run entirely remotely , which makes it one of the few items on this list you really can handle from home. For emergency coverage the citizenship, status and number requirements fall away; if you are pregnant, ask for Package B by name

TASK	WHERE OR HOW
☐ Find a primary care provider	There is a family medicine clinic inside the town but no emergency department ; the region's main hospital is in the city to the south. A hospital whose name resembles this town's is in a different city , so save the right name and location in every phone in the household

DO NOT EXPECT TENANT PROTECTION FROM THE TOWN, AND HERE IS WHY

- It is legally impossible for an Indiana municipality to pass its own ordinance on this. The statute bars a local unit from regulating a tenant screening process, security deposits, rental applications, lease terms, required disclosures, the parties' contractual rights and landlord fees, and in its own words treats a conflicting ordinance as void and unenforceable.
- The comparison across this series: in our Minnesota guide a city was able to adopt an ordinance barring a landlord from asking about immigration status, demanding proof of it, or refusing an applicant over an ITIN. In Indiana a town cannot pass that ordinance.
- We also found no anti-discrimination commission of the town's own. The complaint route appears to be the state body, the Indiana Civil Rights Commission, and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development. We could not verify whether the county has a human relations commission of its own; another county in this state does, so do not assume, ask.
- We also found no state provision protecting a tenant's immigration status. We are not saying there is none. There is no source-of-income protection either, and what we did find runs the other way: a separate section bars a local unit from compelling a landlord to take part in the federal housing voucher program.
- What you are left with is national origin. The state's fair housing provisions protect race, color, religion, sex, familial status, disability and national origin; refusing to sell or rent, refusing to negotiate, making housing otherwise unavailable and publishing an advertisement indicating a preference based on those classes are all barred. Immigration status is not on that list and the two are not the same thing.
- With no local ordinance, your lease and your correspondence are your only evidence. Keep the deposit receipt, the repair requests and the payment records, photograph problems in the building before you move in, and if you experience discrimination write the incident down with the date, the time and any witness and go to the state body without delay.

Rental registration: two questions for Town Hall

The state framework runs like this. A local unit may charge a landlord a registration fee of no more than five dollars per rental unit per year; if the property changes hands the new owner may be asked for current registration information within thirty days and again for up to five dollars. But the statute carries its own exception and it should not be skipped: those limits do not apply to local units that had a rental registration or inspection program in place before July 1, 1984. We found no rental registration or inspection program for Hometown; the town's site was closed to this research and no such program appears on the archived pages. We are not saying there is none.

- Call Town Hall before you rent and ask both questions together: is there a rental registration program, and if so when was it established. The second question decides whether the five-dollar cap applies.

- The fee can be passed to the tenant. The statute says a fee a local unit imposes on a rental unit may be disclosed to the tenant by the landlord and recovered from them; the only exception is fees relating to the construction of the building. If you see such a line in the lease, ask for its basis.
- The penalty procedure concerns tenants too: before a penalty can be imposed for a violation there must first be reasonable notice and a reasonable period to cure stated in that notice. So when you report a defect the process starts with notice, not with a penalty.
- A registration list is not an inspection record. Another city in this series publishes a public landlord registry and even there being listed does not mean inspected; here we found no program at all. Look at the building yourself and photograph the problems before you move in.
- We could not verify which court hears eviction cases for this town and we are not inventing a court name. Because the executive and the legislature sit on one council in a small town, readers often assume the town has a court of its own; we found no such court here. When a notice reaches you, go by the name and address of the court printed on the notice and attend the hearing; not appearing is the most expensive mistake.
- We also found no program of this town's own, by name, connecting a tenant facing eviction with free legal help. Such a program exists in another city in this state, but it is that city's own. The route here is to start looking for help on the day the notice arrives; the addresses are in our official offices guide.

October: the one thing to do before winter

THE SHUTOFF BAN, AND THE RISK PARTICULAR TO THIS TOWN

- The statutory text bars disconnection of electric or gas service for non-payment between December 1 and March 15 for a residential customer who is eligible for and has applied for heating assistance, and the rule applies to municipally owned, privately owned and cooperatively owned utilities alike.
- The protection is not automatic. Being eligible is not enough, you must have applied. You do not have to wait for the money; the application alone gives the protection. Apply in October, not November.
- Water and sewer are outside the scope. The statute says electric or gas only. That is a special risk in Hunteertown, because water, sewer and trash are on a single bill and that bill falls outside the winter protection. We found no separate protective rule for water, and we are not saying there is none; there may be something in the town's own ordinance, and that is a question for Town Hall.
- We cannot write in either direction about a reported summer heat protection for 2026. The statutory text we hold carries a January 1, 2026 snapshot and that provision does not appear in it, so we could not confirm it from the statute. On top of that, a secondary summary says the protection covers electric utilities of certain ownership types only; and since we could not confirm from a second source who supplies electricity in this town, we cannot say whether it would reach you. Find out who your provider is and ask them directly.
- The procedural side does work and is the same statewide: fourteen days of written notice, a postponement on a physician's certificate, a right to installments in financial hardship, no disconnection over a previous occupant's debt, and disconnection only during business hours. We underline the fourth: your service cannot be cut over a debt run up by whoever lived there before you. The provisions are in the bills section of the state guide.

DEPOSITS: WHAT IS ASKED AT THE DOOR IS CREDITWORTHINESS, NOT A NUMBER

- A Social Security number appears nowhere in the rule's text; the criteria are employment history, housing and credit.
- Looking at the zip code or the neighborhood is barred. The rule requires the assessment to be made on the individual's own credit risk alone, without regard to the economic character or collective credit reputation of the area where the person lives.
- Even where a deposit is required the limits are set: it cannot exceed one sixth of the estimated annual cost, above a certain amount it must be spread over at least eight weeks, service is connected as soon as the first installment is taken, the reason must be given to you in writing, interest accrues if it is held long, and after nine months of prompt payment it is returned without you asking.
- The one visible shortcut for a newcomer is the third limb of the employment criterion. A person who recently graduated from a school, university or vocational program and has started work is treated as meeting that criterion, and a credit card can serve as the second criterion.
- We write the limit too, and here it matters: this rule was written for electricity. We could not verify the deposit rules on the water, gas and sewer side, or whether the town's own utility is subject to this rule. With water in the town's hands this is not an abstract caveat; ask Town Hall.
- The honest translation: the rule looks at creditworthiness rather than a number, but a newcomer holds few of the criteria. So in practice a newcomer pays a deposit and gets it back later.
- The regulator determines your appeal route: the state body is the Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission, with the Indiana Office of Utility Consumer Counselor on the consumer side. But in Indiana regulatory jurisdiction over town utilities is not automatic, and we could not verify whether Hometown has withdrawn from it. On a water bill dispute the first door is the town itself.

Within 30 days

TASK	WHERE OR HOW
☐ Vehicle registration and insurance	Sixty days for a newcomer, forty-five days for a newly acquired unregistered vehicle. There is no emissions test in this county , because the coverage reaches two counties only. Compare quotes against the coverage list ; personal injury coverage is not mandatory here. We could not verify a single fee figure
☐ Set up the tax side	Two separate income taxes come out of your pay: the state at 2.95 percent and this county at 1.59 percent , a rough total of 4.54 percent . The town has no income tax of its own; do not look for a third line on your payslip
☐ Read the withholding form	In your first week you are handed a WH-4 , and its first line reads Social Security Number or ITIN , so a person with an ITIN rather than a number fills the form in. If on January 1 you were neither living nor working in Indiana , the instruction is to write not applicable on the relevant lines. If an old copy of the form is put in front of you, ask for the current one
☐ If you work in a neighboring state	Indiana has reciprocity agreements with five states and two of this region's neighbors are on the list. But the agreements do not cover the county income tax , so the relief on the state side does not exist on the county side. There is a separate credit for the reverse situation and it can be refused if the documentation requirement is neglected ; keep your year-end payroll summary

☐ Register with a sliding-scale health center	Before something goes wrong. A sliding scale does not mean free , and you have to ask for the discount by name . The organization the research found for this region is Neighborhood Health Clinics, Inc. ; we found no such center inside the town and we print no address, hours, telephone number or fee tier , because the information came largely from third-party sources. Find the nearest center by entering your address in the official search tool and do not set out without confirming by telephone
☐ Get your income documents ready	What the sliding scale asks for is documentation of gross income : the most recent tax return, pay documents, Social Security or disability award letters, unemployment documents. There is no immigration document on that list
☐ Report a problem to the town	There is no 311 here and no equivalent . The single door is Town Hall , 15617 Lima Road, 260.637.5058 , info@huntertown.in.gov . Day to day business goes to the town's Town Manager post rather than the elected council; we print no personal name , so ask for the post when you call

ON COUNTY INCOME TAX THE COUNTY FREEZES ON JANUARY 1

- The order of the rule is clear: withholding follows the county of residence on January 1. If on January 1 you lived outside Indiana but your principal place of work on that date was in an Indiana county, withholding follows the county of that workplace.
- Moving during the year gains you nothing. The revenue bulletin says so plainly: the county fixed as of January 1 is locked for the whole tax year and a change of county during the year does not affect which county you owe. You file a new form, but that form applies only to the following year.
- In this region the rule bites hard: somebody who moves from here to a neighboring county, or from one to here, in February finishes the entire calendar year at the old county's rate. The month you move does not change the rate, and in this region changing county is often a short move.
- If you are considering a move late in the year this is a planning item. A person who moves to a lower-rate county in December sees the money in January; a person who moves to a higher-rate one sees the loss in January too.
- Five settlements pay five different rates and this county sits in the middle: the same item is 2.02 percent in the state capital's county, 2.10 percent in the county of the smallest settlement in this series, and 1.28 percent in the university town's county.
- Do not trust a rate you find circulating online. A widely used tax rate site gave a rate for one county in this state that conflicts with the revenue agency's own document. Where an official document and a secondary site conflict, the document wins.
- The statute resolves residence in four steps and the second step is voter registration. Do not do what you just read: if you are not a citizen, registering to vote is a crime and it burns your immigration file.
- A calendar warning: a statute from the 2025 session is reported to sunset all existing local income tax rates on December 31, 2027. We could not confirm that from the statutory text, because our statutory source is a January 1, 2026 snapshot. We print no figure for 2028; check your rate again at the end of 2027. Rates are also re-announced every December.

If you bought a house: the date is hard and the deduction shrinks every year

THE HOMESTEAD DEDUCTION

- The application goes to the Allen County Auditor; the statute points expressly to the auditor of the county where the dwelling is, and that office is not in this town, it is at the county seat.
- The date is hard: January 15. The statement must be filed by that day for the calendar year in which you want the deduction. It can be filed in person or by mail; by mail it must be postmarked on or before the last day.
- The deduction shrinks every year and the statute writes it out year by year: $40,000 for 2026, $30,000 for 2027, $20,000 for 2028, $10,000 for 2029, and zero from the 2030 assessment date. So take the decision to buy in this town against the calendar of the next five years, not against today's tax bill.
- The second mechanism is the tax cap and it is usually missed: where a property tax liability exceeds a given percentage of assessed value, a credit is given for the excess, and the percentage depends on whether you live there: one percent for the home you live in, two percent for residential property including a rental, and three percent for non-residential commercial property. The same house halves its cap once it is the one you live in.
- The number question: the statute asks the statement to carry the last five digits of the applicant's and, where there is one, the spouse's Social Security number. Where there is no number the alternatives are listed: the last five digits of a driver's license number, of a state identification card number, of a tax return preparer identification number, or of a control number on a document issued to the person by the United States government.
- The critical distinction: an ITIN does not appear on that list. The last limb is broad and may cover numbers on immigration documents, but the statute does not say so. The withholding form is different and names the ITIN; two different agencies, two different rules, and confusing them costs money. Ask for written confirmation.
- The spouse's number is asked for even if the spouse does not live in the house. In a newly arrived family the spouse is often still in Türkiye; call the county auditor before you file and ask what declaration they want. Numbers entered on the form are confidential by statute.
- You file once, but file again in three situations: if the title changes (an owner added or removed, the property put into a trust); if your eligibility changes, you must notify within sixty days; and if you are receiving a deduction equivalent to this one somewhere else, you notify as well. A person who fails to notify can be liable for the unpaid tax and a civil penalty. For someone who owns a house in another state and takes a similar deduction there, this is a real trap.
- We print no other figures from the 2025 reform, because the secondary sources conflict and we take no side. We print no property tax rate either, because we could not verify a single rate this round. Ask the county assessor for the current assessment of the parcel before you make an offer.
- Ask about the utility arrangement when you buy: water and sewer sit with the town's utility and connection status can vary from parcel to parcel.

Within 90 days

TASK	WHERE OR HOW
☐ Plan the Türkiye side	Indiana sits in the consular district of the Consulate General in Chicago and there is no Turkish mission in the state. The Consulate General is on Central time and you are on Eastern: read every published hour with one hour added . The telephone application window is published as 14:00 to 16:00; here that means 15:00 to 17:00 . The call center on +90 312 292 29 29 is open around the clock and removes the difference entirely
☐ If you need an apostille, start early	The state's only authentication office is in the state capital and works by appointment only . The office also works by mail, and from a small settlement that is usually the sensible route , but a self-addressed stamped return envelope is required . The order does not change: get the document, have it translated if needed and have the translation notarized , apostille last
☐ Voter registration and jury service	Registration and voting belong to US citizens only ; do not tick a citizenship box on any form and do not fill in a registration form handed to you. A small local election is a public election too , and a town council or school board election is not an exception. If a jury summons arrives, call the court named on the letter and do not throw the summons away; most jury offices take an excusal request by telephone , which saves a day from here
☐ Ask an attorney before applying for public benefits	The federal public charge rule that took effect on September 18, 2026 widened the officer's discretion; the same rule says benefits received before that date are assessed under the earlier rule . Put two dates in your calendar: October 1, 2026 and January 1, 2027
☐ Note two dates on health coverage	October 1, 2026: federally matched Medicaid is open to four status groups only and refugees and asylees are not on the list . January 1, 2027: premium support on the federal marketplace narrows to three statuses; other statuses may buy a plan but get no discount. Indiana has no marketplace of its own , so plans are bought on the federal site
☐ Keep your tax records	Copies of federal and state returns are frequently asked for in green card and citizenship applications

WEEKEND PLANS: CHEAP, BUT NOT FREE

- In this state the answer for a household on a tight budget is not free but discounted, and never read these two schemes as free: the statewide culture card gives admission at five dollars per person at participating institutions, and a separate national scheme gives three dollars per person with an EBT card.
- Two barriers hit a newcomer directly: the culture card does not accept student or employee identification and does not accept out-of-state identification either. An Indiana credential is itself tied to proof of lawful status.
- The scheme that is verified in this county is the second one: the art museum at the county seat states on its own visit page that it gives admission at three dollars per person with an EBT card and valid photo identification. We could not verify that the same museum participates in the culture card; we print its name because that is where you would call, but we leave the claim open.
- The most valuable free item in this guide is a window: general admission at the same museum is free to everyone on Thursday evenings from 17:00 to 20:00, and the early learning center built for children from birth to eight is inside that admission. A household that knows the museum by name but not by hour turns up on a Saturday afternoon and pays.
- County parks are the concrete reason people get turned away at the gate: the charge is per person rather than per vehicle, payment is cash or check only, credit cards are not accepted, and everyone aged seven and over pays. We print no amount, because the county's own pages give two different figures for the same admission. Take cash from home.
- We print no state park fee figures, because two separate 2026 documents from the same agency give different figures and we could only reach the table through an archive capture. We write the structure: walking in is not free either, an out-of-state plate costs more, the annual pass runs for the calendar year (not a year from the month you buy it), and the pass is not honored at the state museum or the state historic sites.
- We do print figures on the national park side, and that is not an inconsistency: there is no conflict there, and the figures were read from the agency's own fee page on October 9, 2026. A private vehicle is $25.00, valid seven days; a pedestrian or cyclist is $15.00 per person, sixteen and over; the park's own annual pass is $45.00. The agency's own rule: passing through without stopping is free, the fee begins when you stop.
- A name trap: in the northwest of the state there are a state park and a national park with almost the same name; two separate agencies, two separate governments and two pass systems that do not recognize each other, and both agencies say so on their own pages. If you are making a long trip, confirm by name which park you are going to.
- Two rules about veterans get mixed up: the museum at the county seat admits veterans and active duty service members to general admission free, but being a veteran does not by itself give free entry to state parks and the federal fourth-grade program is not honored at state parks.
- The two remaining free federal days in 2026 are October 27 and November 11, and those days are valid at the national park, not at state parks. For the state parks' post-Thanksgiving free day we could not verify a 2026 date and we print none.
- A state park pass borrowed from the library: Indiana libraries lend them but each library sets its own terms and the 2026 practice could not be verified for this county's system. We do not write that every library lends one; call your own branch and ask whether the pass is lent on its own or inside a kit.

- We found no verified free item inside the town itself, and we are not saying there is none. The whole free list points at the county seat: a riverfront park with splash features, a rose garden park, the city's spray grounds, an accessible playground, a historic fort site and the library's main building. Confirm anything seasonal before you go.

IF YOU ARE NOT A CITIZEN, REMEMBER

- Do not tick a citizenship box on any form and do not register to vote. A small election is not an exception, and although voter registration appears as a criterion in the county tax rule, it is not a route for you. If a jury questionnaire arrives, do not ignore it; notify the court on the letter.
- Talk to an immigration attorney before applying for a public benefit, dropping one, or switching from one program to another.
- Check your entry record at i94.cbp.dhs.gov. Your work permit, your license expiry and some application eligibilities turn on it; in Indiana a credential issued on temporary lawful status ends on the last day of that stay.
- If you have a pending green card application, do not travel abroad without advance parole.
- If you are detained, ask to speak with an attorney before discussing your status, and if you are a Turkish citizen ask for the Consulate General to be notified.
